PASS TO THE SEA.

Souhtwest Pass Building for Sea-Going Vessels.

New Orleans, July 12.—A description of the building of the great southwest pass, at the mouth of the Mississippi river, was made Tuesday by Clinton D. Sears, engineer in charge of this work, in his annual report.

Southwest pass is the second and largest of two deep channels built by the government through the delta of the Mississippi, South pass, which is at present the only inlet for ocean-going vessels being the other. Work on the new pass, which began December 31, 1903, has up to date produced a channel about 65 feet wide, and 15 feet deep, at an expense of $2,001,893. The report estimates that it will cost an addition $2,500,000 before the channel is 1,000 feet wide and 35 feet deep, its required dimensions.

The work includes the building of jetties, which by confining the current between them and thereby increasing the speed of flow, tend to keep the channel clear of deposit. The east jetty has been extended a distance of 21,700 feet, and the west jetty 16,148 feet. Another portion of the work is the checking up of other outlets of the river so as to divert all the water possible through the two commercial gateways. The report estimates that $15,000 a year is needed to maintain South pass, an increase of $50,000 over the sum hitherto spent for this purpose.

Train Flagged at Pit's Brink.

Richland, Ga., July 12.—An electrical storm visited Richland and vicinity and considerable damage was done. A deep fill on the Seaboard Air Line railroad one-half mile east of town was washed out and but for Clinton Dennard would have caused a disastrous wreck. Dennard, who lives near, ran out and flagged the westbound passenger. When the train was stopped the engine was within 2 feet of the yawning chasm. Crops were badly damaged. Lands washed and the Elberta peaches which are now being shipped from here, were almost totally destroyed.

No further particulars have yet been received, the vicinity being without the means of telephonic or telegraphic communication. It is supposed that the steamer struck during a fog. The coast at that point is very dangerous. Tugs have been sent to her assistance from North Sydney and from Louisburg. The Angolia registers 1,811 tons, and is in charge of Captain Thomas.

Mr. Glenn, who was 40 years old, had suffered more than twenty falls in his career as a steeple climber.

FILIBUSTERED TO DELAY CONNOR BILL

Mr. Flynt, of Spalding, Held Floor of House Two Hours.

FINALLY RULED OUT OF ORDER

It Is Said by Friends of Measure that Mr. Flynt's Filibustering Will Gain Votes for the Bill—No Legislation Accomplished at Morning Session.

Atlanta, July 12.—The house of representatives met at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, after having held a morning and afternoon session on Tuesday with but little accomplished in the way of legislation.

Parliamentary procedure was thoroughly exploited, all to the effect that it rests with the speaker of the house to close irrelevant debate when he sees fit, an exercise of power which the speaker, in view of the constitutional right of any member to be heard upon any proposition, is reluctant to exercise.

Immediately after the usual routine of the opening Mr. Flynt of Spalding, obtained the floor at 10:10 o'clock upon a motion to adjourn until five minutes after 10 o'clock this morning. Mr. Flynt obtained the floor under this pretext, his real object being to defeat the consideration of the bill by Mr. Connor, of Bartow, to appropriate $100,000 for the establishment of an agricultural college at Athens. Mr. Flynt obtained the floor just subsequent to the motion of Mr. Felder, of Bibb, to take the bill in question from the table, and talked from 10:10 o'clock in the morning until noon, promptly at which hour the speaker ruled that the gentleman from Spalding was out of order, in that his remarks were irrelevant and out of order, violating rule No. 1 of the house.

The balance of the morning session was taken up by the call of the yeas and nays upon different propositions to adjourn. Mr. Flynt addressed himself to an essay upon patriotism, asserting that the house had never in its history adjourned on July 10, 1906, and that it owed itself this treat after Mr. Hall, of Bibb, had robbed it of the enjoyment of the Fourth of July. He was frequently interrupted by questions, Mr. Knight, of Berrien, being his faithful lieutenant, to give him breathing time, but he held the floor until noon, when the speaker ruled that under rule 1, which invests the speaker with power to suppress irrelevant debate, he was declared out of order.

Said a prominent supporter of the bill which Mr. Flynt succeeded in defeating the consideration of: "Let him talk all he wishes to; he but gains votes for the bill and we have 122 votes checked up in its favor and its passage is assured."

An afternoon session was held, upon motion of Mr. Wright, of Floyd, commencing at 3 p. m. at which the bill of Mr. Blackburn, of Fulton, to establish a police patrol in each militia district of the state, was considered in the committee of the whole house, adopted by substitute as amended, and reported to the house with the recommendation that it do pass.

Pending further consideration of the bill, as reported by substitute and amended, was in order.

The bill, as reported by substitute and amended, provides for the establishment of a rural police patrol in each militia district of the state, such to be established upon the recommendation of the grand jury in each county. The bill was amended so as to provide that the police patrol should consist of a captain and not less than two or more men to be selected and appointed by the grand jury in each county, who should have the power to patrol the militia district, and is effective in each county of the state only upon the recommendation of a grand jury.

Mr. Blackburn, the author of the bill, made an able speech in its support, claiming that the purport of the bill was an effort to protect the women of the state in the rural districts cheered in his short speech, and the probabilities are that the bill will pass the house with an easy majority in its favor.

The amendment of Mr. Rainey, of Schley, that each patrolman be provided with four gatling guns and six bloodhounds, was voted down by a vote of 68 to 52.

Senate Wants Lieutenant Governor.

A bill was passed Tuesday by the state senate favoring a lieutenant governor by a vote of 32 to 5. Those who voted against Senator Wheatley's bill were Senators Adams, Grayhill, King Miller and Steed. The bill as passed is simply for a constitutional amendment providing for a lieutenant governor. If it is passed by the lower house the amendment will then go before the people of Georgia for ratification. If the bill is passed by this year's session of the legislature, it will be placed before the people for ratification at the approaching primary.

According to the bill, the lieutenant governor shall be ex-officio president of the senate. It does away with the senators' election of their own president. He will be elected directly by a vote of the people.

Memphis, Tenn., July 12.—David A. Clamers, a plantation manager of Hill house, Miss., who on March 28 shot and killed Sam B. Arnold, a former bookkeeper on the plantation of which Chalmers was the manager, was late Tuesday evening acquitted of the charge of murder. The killing of Arnold occurred in the buffet of a prominent local hotel. It was shown at the trial that domestic troubles in the Chalmers household in which, it was alleged, Arnold figured, prompted the killing.

T., July 12.—A fight by moonlight which lasted over an hour, and in which perhaps a thousand shots were fired, occurred near here, resulting in the death of two men and the serious wounding of six others. The participants were negroes. Desultory firing was kept up during the night, but the fight did not reach its deadly climax until 3 a. m.

Negro Killed by Train.

Atlanta, July 12.—Will Crawford, a negro switchman employed by the Southern railway, was run over and killed by a switch engine in the Inman yards at about 10 o'clock Tuesday night. It is not known whether Crawford was unaware of the engine's approach or was caught in the tracks.

ATTEMPT TO KILL ADMIRAL CHOUKIN

Who Is Commander of Black Sea Fleet.

THE ADMIRAL WAS WOUNDED

He Has Been Blamed for His Severity and It Was to His Treatment of the Crews that Mutiny on Battleship Kniaz Potemkine Was Attributed.

Sevastopol, May 12.—An attempt was made at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to assassinate Vice Admiral Choukin, commander of the Black Sea fleet.

The admiral was wounded and taken to a hospital.

Vice Admiral Choukin has been blamed for his severity, and it was to his treatment of the crews of the ships under his command that the mutiny on board the battleship Kniaz Potemkine in June and July last year was attributed.

The admiral displayed considerable activity in attempting to capture the mutineers at that time and in suppressing the sailors' mutiny at Sevastopol in November last.

An attempt was made on the life of the admiral on February 9th, last.

Fell Seven Stories to Death.

Atlanta, July 12.—Dropping from a window on the eighth floor of the Equitable building, J. L. Dorsett, a tailor, met instant death Tuesday afternoon about 6 o'clock. When Ernest Woodruff, president of the Atlanta Ice and Coal company, left his office in the Equitable building late Tuesday afternoon and went to his motor car on Pryor street he found seated there a coatless man, wearing a black derby, and in an apparently comatose condition. Mr. Woodruff drove the man out, and he smiling, walked through the Pryor street entrance of the building to the elevator. He entered the car with two or three other passengers, and directed the elevator man to take him to the eighth floor. Arriving there, he walkked to the north side of the building, and seeing a radiator at the window, climbed over it, lay at full length upon the broad sill and there, at that airy and dangerous position, went to sleep.

Created Considerable Excitement.

Oyster Bay, July 12.—Edward Moore who claims to have been a sailor on the battleship Kentuckyk, created considerable disturbance here Wednesday when he called up Sagamore Hill on the telephone and announced that he was ready to take charge of the president's secret service force. From the telephone Moore made a circuit of the Oyster Bay saloon district, informed several of the saloon keepers that their licenses were invalid and that he would return to make arrests just as soon as he got his secret service uniform. His tour of the saloon district was interrupted by a policeman who took him into custody on a charge of intoxication.

NEW CANNERY HAS BEGUN OPERATION

Several Hundred Cans of Tomatoes Were Preserved Thursday.

CAPACITY OF 10,000 CANS

One of the Largest Canneries in the State, Which Will Employ a Large Number of Hands if Products of Farm Can be Secured.

The Central City Cannery, of which W. L. Denham is manager, began operations Thursday afternoon, and several hundred cans of tomatoes were put up with great success. This cannery, which is one of the largest in the State, having a capacity of 10,000 three-pound cans a day, will give employment to a large number of hands, and will at the same time offer the grower a market for the products of his farm which he could not afford to ship.

Mr. Denham is very enthusiastic over the venture, and if he can secure the material, promises to make a good thing not only for the owners, but for the grower and the community as well.

It is the purpose of this new industry to keep its plant engaged as long as the material for canning can be secured. It is hoped that the growers will take advantage of this opportunity to market their products, which will mean a good thing for themselves, the enterprise and the community.

Remember the mid-week prayer service at the First Presbyterian Church tonight, beginning at 7:45. These meetings are quite interesting and the pastor extends a cordial invitation to members of the congregation and all others.

Mrs. A. B. Oliver and daughter, Miss Bessie, will leave this morning for Jacksonville, where Mrs. Oliver will again go under treatment for catarrh. Her friends trust that she will soon be entirely relieved from this dreadful affliction.

Chas. Quaintance of Savannah passed through the city yesterday en route home from Cyril, where he has been on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Raines. Mr. Quaintance is a druggist and is looking for a location. He may decide to return to Florida.

J. H. Truby, who has been confined to his bed for the past eight weeks, is out again, to the satisfaction and pleasure of his numerous friends. A few nights ago J. C. Haile, at his handsome home a few miles west of Gainesville, entertained a number of his friends at a bachelor supper. As is usual at Mr. Haile's home, everything was up-to-date, and the evening was passed in a most pleasing manner, the host serving a most delightful supper. A number of his guests remained over night, returning to Gainesville the following morning.

Hon. Henry S. Chubb, who has been confined to his room with a swollen face for the past three or four days, expects to be at his desk in the United States land office this morning. Col. Chubb, who is naturally possessed of a fine disposition and a great deal of humor, stated that he would have "showed up" at his boarding house before, but feared that his cheek would take a back-set in his endeavor to keep up the conversation with Judge Horatio Davis, a fellow boarder. Col. Chubb and Judge Davis usually keep the other boarders well entertained.

"IT SAVED MY LIFE"

PRAISE FOR A FAMOUS MEDICINE

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you, telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money on medicines besides, but it all failed to help me. My monthly periods had ceased and I suffered much pain, with fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing-down pains, and I was so weak I could hardly keep around. As a last resort I decided to write you and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful that I did, for after following your instructions, which you sent me free of all charge, I became regular and in perfect health. Had it not been for you I would be in my grave to-day.

"I sincerely trust that this letter may lead every suffering woman in the country to write you for help as I did."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of an organ, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse all substitutes.

For 25 years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Address, Lynn, Mass.

A HANDSOME PRESENT.

W. R. Steckert, land commissioner of the Cummer Lumber Company for the past few years, is a happy man, and he has a right to be.

Mr. Steckert was summoned a day or two ago to Jacksonville by his firm, as is frequently the case, on business. He responded to the summons, and put in his appearance in due time in the office of the Cummer Company. When the business had been attended to and he was in the act of leaving the place, W. W. Cummer called him, handed him a small piece of paper, with the remark that he had been a faithful and efficient representative of the Cummer interests "everywhere and at all times," and he desired Mr. Steckert to receive that "modest" present as a token of their regard for himself and his efforts.

Mr. Steckert is responsible for the statement that he "liked to have dropped dead" when he noted that the check was for $5.00. He is appreciative, however, and will remember the "small" present which his employer thought enough of him to give with compliments.

Fined $40,000.

Chicago, July 12.—Judge Landis, in the United States district court, Wednesday sentenced the Chicago and Alton road, which was recently convicted of granting illegal rebates at Kansas City, to pay a fine of $20,000 on each of two counts, or a total of $40,000. John Faithorn and Fred A. Wann, former officials of the road, who were also convicted, were sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000 each on two counts or a total of $10,000 each.

An address by Hon. Frank Clark.

Grand civic parade, consisting of military, firemen, secret orders, and civilians at night. The Key West Light Guard Band will furnish music during the celebration. Display of fireworks. A long list of athletic sports.

There was no game at Monticello Wednesday, on account of rain. SANDIE GRAHAM.

Return of the Excursionists.

The trains southbound, both on the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line, have been crowded for the past few days, conveying to their respective homes the excursionists who took advantage of the cheap Fourth of July rates to visit their friends and their old home.

There were a number of this class from Gainesville and vicinity. All who have so far returned speak in the highest praise of the service of the railroad over which they traveled, stating that every possible convenience which could be supplied by a railroad was furnished them.

There were many "home comings" afforded by the generosity of the railroads in various parts of the country, which enabled the members of separated families to congregate from almost every point and enjoy a good time together.

Train Collides on Trial Run.

Hot Springs, Ark., July 12.—Passenger train No. 6, on the Little Rock and Hot Springs Western railroad, leaving here, and a new engine out for a trial, met in a head-on collision near here Tuesday. Engineer John Stanley was seriously injured and may die. William Hudgins, a negro, was cut about the head, and many passengers were bruised. The light engine was going at a rapid rate of speed, attempting to reach a siding to allow the passenger train to pass.

Emperor William Leaves Trondhjem.

Hundred Negroes Mob Dog Catchers.

St. Louis, July 12.—An infuriated mob of a hundred negroes attacked a crew of city dog catchers on Lucan avenue, brandishing clubs and knives, and Andrew Detzold, a dog catcher, was stabbed and slashed in the back, suffering dangerous wounds.

Lunar Athletics.

The "man in the moon" must surely regard with amused contempt our much vaunted athletic records. A good terrestrial athlete could cover about 120 feet on the moon in a running broad jump, while leaping over the barn would be a very commonplace feat. He would find no difficulty in carrying six times as much and running six times as fast as he could on earth, all because the moon attracts bodies with but one-sixth of the force of the earth.

MALARIA AN INSIDIOUS FOE TO HEALTH

Malaria is an atmospheric poison which we unconsciously breathe into our lungs through the impure air arising from low, marshy places, stagnant ponds, damp cellars, sewer pipes, improperly ventilated houses, decaying vegetable matter, etc. Day after day these germs and poisons are taken into the lungs, and as the blood passes through them it becomes infected with the poison and in its circulation distributes the microbes of disease to all parts of the body. Malaria is a very insidious disease; it gives no warning of its coming until the circulation is filled with the poison and this foe to health has the system at its mercy. The blood becomes polluted, thin and weak and its slow, irregular circulation fails to properly nourish and strengthen the body. Then the entire system is attacked, and if the germs and poisons of Malaria are allowed to remain the strongest constitution will break down. No one can feel well when the system is in a malarial condition; the vitality is weak, the appetite poor, digestion deranged, the complexion grows sallow and the entire body feels the effects of the poison. Malaria must be removed from the system through the circulation and the only medicine that can accomplish this is S. S. S. It not only cleanses the blood of all unhealthy morbid matter, but destroys the germs, cures Malaria and restores this vital fluid to a strong, healthy condition. S. S. S is made of roots, herbs and barks combining purifying and tonic properties which keep the blood free of all poisons and the system in perfect condition. While destroying the germs of Malaria and building up the weak, polluted blood S. S. S. gives tone and vigor to the entire system. Book on the blood and any medical advice without charge.

MANN TO CHATTANOOGA.

Expects to Make Fine Thing Financially From Coming Peach Crop.

Senator A. S. Mann, land commissioner of the Gainesville and Gulf Railway, left Thursday morning for Chattanooga, Tenn., where he owns an immense peach orchard, comprising 320 acres, 2,500 trees.

Senator Mann is not much on prognostications, but it was learned that he had received a telegram from the manager of his orchard stating that he had been offered $1 per crate on the trees. There will be about 6,000 crates, so it will be readily seen that the crop means a great deal of money for the owner. Senator Mann stated that he would not accept the $1 on the trees, as he expected to get $1.25, as the fruit, being exceptionally fine and of the Elberta variety, would bring easily that price.

Senator Mann proposes to return to Gainesville in a few days, when he will resume his work in building up the country in the proposed extenison of the Gainesville and Gulf railroad.

A NOVEL AFFAIR.

Mrs. R. H. Arnold Entertains at Old-Fashioned Country Dinner.

Mrs R. H. Arnold, desirous of giving the members of the local lodge, Woman's Christian Temperance Union, a treat, invited its members to an old-fashion country dinner at her home in New Gainesville Thursday. A large number availed themselves of the opportunity, with the that result many partook of something as novel as it was tempting. Mrs. Arnold personally looked after the serving of the dinner, which embraced everything good to eat from the farm, and altogether the occasion was a most enjoyable one. Those present are under obligations to Mrs. Arnold.

A Fine Meeting.

The local camp, Woodmen of the World, seems to be prospering and gaining membership. The members are quite active in securing a large membership, with the result that for the past two or three meetings there has been work. At the meeting of the Woodmen Thursday night there was work in the first and second degrees, after which the members enjoyed light refreshments, concluding with a smoker. A number of the most prominent citizens of the city are members of this order.

A BIG DEAL

Captain S. C. Tucker, representing for the past few months the trustees of the Wylie-Gabbett Company, manufacturers of lumber, bankrupts, has returned to his home in this city.

The Wylie-Gabbett Company was at one time among the most extensive manufacturers of lumber in this section, owning vast acres of fine timber, pine and cypress. They "went to the bad," however, and the business was placed in the hands of a board of trustees to save the accounts.

A few days ago the three milling plants and about 45,000 acres of timber in Levy county was sold to parties in Duval and Nassau counties. The purchase price could not be learned, but it is said that the property brought between $75,000 and $80,000, which will be divided among the creditors.

Trenton to Have a Brick.

This building will be a modern one story affair, with two commodious store-rooms. It will be a new departure for the town of Trenton, which, by the way, is growing wonderfully since the railroad extension has reached there.

Will Keep Water Off.

In order to keep the water away from West Liberty street, a ditch has been ordered constructed in West Gainesville, which will divert the overflow from that thoroughfare, and keep the same comparatively dry. The authorities are determined to make West Liberty the street of the city, and every effort is being employed in that direction. This is no more than proper, however, as this thoroughfare will lead directly to the University grounds.

Attention, Maccabees!

There will be a meeting of University Tent No. 123, K. O. T. M. M., at P. O. S. of A. Hall on Friday night, July 13th. Supervising Deputy A. C. Hamrick has just returned from Port Huron, Mich., and will be with us. Let all members attend and hear the report of Brother Hamrick.

Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

Miss Porter of Orange Springs has accepted a position as saleslady with F. J. Hammond.

Mrs. Adkinson of Georgia and Miss Kinnebrew of Gainesville have been the guests of Mrs. Y. M. Holme for the past two weeks.

A Traveling Novelty.

It is not often that merchants come in contact with a saleswoman, but when they do the latter usually "lands" her customer.

Gainesville was visited the past week by a saleswoman, in the person of Miss B. A. Dinges of New Orleans, representing a famous coffee house of that city. Miss Dinges had as her escort a well known traveling salesman, Mr. Dickson, who introduced her to the various merchants—and Miss Dinges did the rest. She is a saleslady of unusual ability, and seldom left a "prospect" without making a record in her order book. The experience was rather novel to many merchants, who could not resist the tempting arguments of a woman, with the result that she booked several handsome orders here.

It may be said with impunity that Miss Dinges knows her business when it comes to coffee. She made some of those merchants about town who "knew all about it" feel like six slick nickels when it came to coffee, and her argument was so clever and convincing that it resulted in withdrawal from her sample case of the order book.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT OCTOPUS.

Gainesville is not the only place where the people are being robbed by the electric light combination, as evidenced by the following from The Newark (N. J.) News:

"Are the electric lighting companies also among the reformers? It would seem so, for at the convention of the National Electric Light Association at Atlantic City the keynote of one of its most important sessions was 'A square deal for the public.' Every address delivered on that day touched approvingly on this subject. Every delegate to the convention concurred in the recommendation that the 'square deal' policy was the one upon which all electric lighting companies must henceforth rely if they hoped to be successful.

"'Make municipal ownership unnecessary,' urged Mr. Blood, the president of the association, 'by giving service and rates acceptable to the public.' 'Don't wait for your customers to make complaint about the service,' said another representative delegate. 'Call them up regularly and inquire if they are satisfied. Be liberal in the little things, like repairs, and even in the big things, like lamp renewals. Get their confidence, respect and co-operation, and the question of municipal or private ownership will be solved.'

"This is a remarkable double confession, and coming from such a source is astonishing. It is equivalent to saying, in the first place, that if public corporations dealt fairly, squarely and honorably with the public there would be no ground whatever for any movement in favor of municipal ownership of public utilities. It is a confession, in the second place, that public service corporations have not hitherto dealt honestly and honorably with the public, and therefore, and for no other reason, the sentiment in favor of municipal ownership is already deep rooted and is gaining ground so rapidly as to startle the private purveyors of electric lighting.

"There is a third confession, implied rather than uttered, and it is this: The policy of greed, of unfair dealing, of beguiling the people into yielding valuable privileges, which become interminable contracts and then rendering them inadequate and abominable service, must be abandoned. It has been carried so far that the National Electric Association openly and emphatically declares against it, lest the business of electric lighting to private corporations is ruined by municipal ownership.

"The simple truth of the matter is that electric lighting corporations are frightened, and well they may be. For years they have demanded exorbitant rates, seizing every opportunity to get every dollar that could be squeezed out of the people and giving them the least possible return. They have stifled all competition by buying up rival plants. They have opposed all legislation advantageous to the people if it interfered with their schemes to exact excessive rates. They have corruptly interfered with politics. They have been anything but liberal with the people in great things or in small, and now, at last, they begin to see that a 'square deal' for the public is their only safety.

"The national association did well to make these confessions and utter these truths in New Jersey. Already the cities of Newark, Paterson, Passaic, Camden, Elizabeth, Perth Amboy, New Brunswick, Plainfield, Kearny and South Orange have been compelled to seriously consider municipal ownership as a means of evading excessive charges for public lighting, and the result has been the offer, by the Public Service Corporation, of material reductions in prices as inducements to secure further contracts. This is itself significant of the treatment the public has received. The Legislature, urged by numerous municipalities, passed laws for the express purpose of enabling cities to escape extortion by building their own lighting plants. Municipal ownership has in the past year or two assumed an importance never before known in New Jersey, and the reason is at last fully and frankly acknowledged by the National Electric Lighting Association. It has been made necessary by the unwillingness of the lighting corporations to give 'acceptable service and rates;' it has been forced upon the people by the persistent refusal to give consumers a 'square deal.' It has proved a perilous policy."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

Slowly but surely the people are being aroused to that state when the evil trusts will not be countenanced. The heads of the great trusts of the country are today ducking to dodge the blows aimed at them in all parts of the United States and from the various departments of government. The developments for the past six months have been full of encouragement to the people who have been gulled for so long, and who have withstood the impositions with patience.

Two or three years ago the trusts were looked upon as a kind of legal and respectable agency of robbery. Today they are being frowned down upon, and in many of the courts of the land there have appeared indictments against those connected with them, which have borne the words, "Malicious, criminal and against the peace and dignity of the said State." In almost every State in the United States action has been brought against the trusts, and while the courts have not succeeded in sending many of them to jail the prosecution has had a most salutory effect. It has aroused the people of the United States and is causing them to think. It has also led to a more general prosecution of the trusts wherever there was law upon which to base a charge. The effect appears to have been general, for it has spread to Florida, where two of the alleged trusts are before the courts to answer to criminal indictments.

Our special form of government makes it hard for this country to rid itself of this great and growing evil. The processes which must be employed are slow, and time appears to be no object when a wave of reform, such as is needed in this instance, strikes the country. In Japan the government is administered in a different way. The Japs have taken to the confiscation plan, and have confiscated stocks of goods, factories, etc., without so much as making a noise or a commotion over the seizure. But in this country the evil has been so thoroughly planted, and our system of government so complex, that it will require years to do what Japan has done in one single calendar period of seven days.

But all this discussion, all of these disclosures and prosecutions are having an excellent effect. The people are becoming aroused, and the man who now vigorously assails trusts is not being cried out of court as an anarchist. He is being looked upon as a pretty safe and sane kind of individual, and his work is having a telling effect.

With a Democratic victory at the next general election, with tariff revision on a large scale and a President who has the courage of his convictions, and who is not a "man of clay," the United States will soon rid itself of this evil.

The signs of the times are encouraging.

GIFTS IN ABYSSINIA.

Officials Will Take Them if They Are Presented in the Right Way.

The agent of the British government who visited Abyssinia some years ago wished to return the favor of a native official by some suitable present. The bestowal of this was, however, a matter quite beyond the knowledge of one brought up in the court circles of western civilization. His experience was instructive.

"The arrangement was badly handled," he says, "and when I arrived several persons besides the high official were present. After a few light topics had been discussed I mentioned my object in making the visit, and as no offer was made to dismiss the bystanders I exhibited my donation.

"In an instant I was aware that I had made a false step. A frown of mingled surprise and indignation clouded the hitherto serene brow, and tones of fathomless integrity declined the proffered gift, while strong inward feeling found vent in a rocking motion of his body.

"'You have utterly misunderstood me,' said he. 'The friendliness which I have shown you has been extended solely with pure motives of kindness to the stranger in the land. Devotion to my sovereign and country is amply repaid by the internal consciousness of rectitude. Your intentions are doubtless good, but greater happiness will await me from the knowledge that you will now recognize how disinterested my conduct has been.'

"My offering was firmly waved away, and for some period his frame continued shaken by inward emotion, to the great edification of the bystanders, whose eyes remained fixed on the ground.

"It was undoubtedly very discomfiting, and my apologies for so great a mistake were profuse. I declared that I could not quit this abode until restored calmness had given me the assurance that his feelings had recovered their usual serene tone. As fortunately this soon happened, I left, properly enraged at the miserable management which had occasioned the awkwardness.

"Naturally I consulted a native authority who had witnessed the transaction and the mistake which I had committed, but he was so tickled by the circumstances that I extracted from him for some time little but laughter. His eventual view of matters was confided in a few words:

"'Try again, but take more and have no witnesses.'

"On the next occasion I found the governor alone, and when I opened the subject on which my visit was founded his eyes twinkled, and he said:

"'From the first moment when I saw you I had a presentiment that we were ordained to be great friends. I do not know if Europeans have these superstitions, but with us they are general, and we do not find them deceptive. You may have heard—and I am aware it is generally stated of us by foreigners—that we are deceitful and avaricious. Do not believe this. All countries contain bad men, and your experience has perhaps been unfortunate. But we shall remain always friends. And what age presents, after all, but external emblems of esteem?'

"There were no difficulties on this occasion. He was obviously much pleased and finally said that the blessing of Providence would be sure to attend the exertions of a man who was thoughtful of the saddened circumstances of others, and he was 'poor, very poor.'"—Youth's Companion.

"Division" In Parliament.

When a division is called a bell rings to enable all M. P.'s to collect from the smoking room, the library, etc. Then the outer door is closed, and the speaker puts the question. There is a shout of "Aye!" and of "No!" on which he declares that either the one or the other "has it." If this be challenged he says, "The 'ayes' to the right, the 'noes' to the left." This means that the "ayes" and the "noes" go into respective lobbies.

This takes some time, for they go leisurely. When at length they are both within their respective pens all the doors leading to them are closed, and after a minute or two the one door through which the prisoners in each lobby are to make their exit is opened. Before reaching the exit they have to pass on either side of a desk at which two clerks sit and check off on a printed list of members those who vote. After this they pass in single file through the exit door, which is a few yards from this desk. Just outside this exit door stand two tellers, one representing the "ayes" and one the "noes." Their business is to call aloud one, two, three, four, and so on, as the members pass. Consequently for each division four tellers are necessary, two for the "aye" lobby and two for the "no" lobby.—London Truth.

Timid and Contented.

"Mrs. Farmer Clafer seems to have a placid and contented mind."

"She has, indeed," replied Miss [illegible]

FIXING THE SEASONS.

Some Peoples Still Follow the Ancient Egyptian Methods.

The inhabitants of Borneo make use of the same means for fixing the times of their agricultural seasons as were used by the early Britons and in Egypt between 1000 and 2000 B. C., says the Journal of the Asiatic Society. They rely, that is to say, on the time of rising of certain constellations just before the sun, known to astronomers as their heliacal rising. Many ancient temples are found to be oriented to the point of the horizon, which marks the heliacal rising of the Pleiades on a May morning.

The natives of Borneo are using the rising of the same constellation as a guide to the proper time to prepare their ground to grow their food supply. When the dry season is perceived to be approaching two men are sent out into the jungle to observe. There they watch, perhaps a few nights, perhaps a month, until the Pleiades are seen on the horizon just before the increasing sunlight causes the stars to fade. Then they return to the village and announce the fact. The inhabitants now know that work on the forest must be commenced. If by any means they have missed the heliacal rising of the Pleiades and have delayed operations till Orion's belt is seen rising just before the sun, they know that they must work double shift. The ground being cleared, they then wait till the Pleiades are at the zenith at sunrise before they set fire to the rubbish.

The above is the method adopted by the Dyaks. Other neighboring tribes, the Kenyahs and Kayans, make use of the length of the shadow cast by a stick at noon to determine their seasons. Situated as they are between the tropics, the shadow is cast on the north or south of the stick, according to the time of year. The length of the shadow also varies as the sun passes from Cancer to Capricorn and back. The shadow is measured by means of a notched stick. The notches represent the lengths of shadow which experience has shown to correspond with favorable times for their various agricultural operations.

The Samoans, on the other hand, fix their seasons by the appearance of a curious marine worm, which they call the palolo. The vai palolo, or time of the palolo, is the name of one of their seasons, as spring is one of ours. This strange worm lives in the interstices of the coral reefs and at certain seasons makes its appearance in the open sea in immense numbers. It is eagerly gathered and eaten by the natives.

If the swarm appears, say, at 3 o'clock in the morning, it has totally disappeared by 9 o'clock. Both male and female worms break up into innumerable fragments, and the eggs are fertilized in the water. The coming of the palolo is regulated by the moon, and yet, strange to say, in the long run it keeps solar time. If the dates of its appearances were separated by twelve lunar months, then, reckoning by the day of the month, it would be eleven days earlier each year. On the other hand, if it came every thirteen months it would be eighteen days later each year. This is rectified by having in every cycle of three years one interval of thirteen and two of twelve months. Finally by the addition of an extra interval of thirteen months in a cycle of twenty-nine years the error is less than one day in a century.

An Old Family Society.

The Buchanan society, as the name denotes, is composed of individuals of the name and clan of Buchanan and is the oldest named society in Scotland. It was instituted in Glasgow so far back as 1725. At a friendly meeting of some of the name of Buchanan held there on March 5 of that year the following proposal was made:

"That the name of Buchanan, being now the most numerous name in the place, and many poor boys of that name, who are found to be of good genius, being lost for want of good education, a fund might be begun and carried on by the name, the interest of which in time might enable some of them to be useful in church and state."

This society has since gone on with almost uninterrupted success. It has attained a position of high importance and is of great practical use.—London Notes and Queries.

Marriage Superstitions.

Among the agricultural laborers in England neither father nor mother of the bride and bridegroom go with them to church. The bridesmaid and groomsman should be an engaged couple whose marriage is fixed. If the wedding party does not count even, one of the guests will die within a year. The wedding party should not be in church when the clock is striking, and the bride should not enter first in her own house after the marriage. It is unlucky to address the bride after the ceremony by her maiden name. In Moore's "Life of Byron" we are told that on the morning of his ill starred marriage, when about to depart, Byron said to the bride, "Miss Milbanke, are you ready?" a mistake which the lady's confidential attendant fortunately to be a bad omen.

BUSINESS DERELICTS.

The Army of Men Who "Had Money, but Lost It."

A prominent New York lawyer of wide experience says that in his opinion ninety-nine out of every hundred of those who make money or inherit it lose it sooner or later.

How many thousands of good honest men and women there are in this country who have worked very hard and made all sorts of sacrifices of comfort and luxury in order to lay up something for the future and yet have reached middle life or later without having anything to show for it, many of them, indeed, finding themselves without a home or any probability of getting one, without property or a cent of money laid by for sickness, for the inevitable emergency or for their declining years!

For the sake of your home, for the protection of hard earnings, for your peace of mind, your self respect, your self confidence, whatever else you do do not neglect a good, solid business training and get it as early in life as possible. It will save you from many a fall, from a thousand embarrassments and perhaps from the humiliation of being compelled to face your wife and children and confess that you have been a failure. It may save you from the mortification of having to move from a good home to a poor one, of seeing your property slip out of your hands and of having to acknowledge your weakness and your lack of foresight and thoughtfulness or your having made the dupe of sharpers.

Many men who once had good stores of their own are working as clerks, floorwalkers or superintendents of departments in other people's stores just because they risked and lost everything in some venture. As they now have others depending on them, they do not dare to take the risks which they took in young manhood, and so they struggle along in mediocre positions, still mocked with ambitions which they have no chance to gratify.

Thousands of people who were once in easy circumstances are living in poverty and wretchedness today because they failed to put an understanding or an agreement in writing or to do business in a business way. Families have been turned out of house and home penniless because they trusted to a relative or a friend to "do what was right" by them without making a hard and fast, practical business arrangement with him.

It does not matter how honest people are. They forget, and it is so easy for misunderstandings to arise that it is never safe to leave anything of importance to a mere oral statement. Reduce it to writing. It costs but little in time or money, and when all parties interested are agreed that is the best time to formulate the agreement in exact terms. This will often save lawsuits, bitterness and alienations. How many friendships have been broken by not putting understandings in writing. Thousands of cases are in the courts today because agreements were not put in writing. A large part of lawyers' incomes is derived from the same source.

Business talent is as rare as a talent for mathematics. We find boys and girls turned out of school and college full of theories and of all sorts of knowledge or smatterings of knowledge, but without the ability to protect themselves from human thieves who are trying to get something for nothing. No girl or boy should be allowed to graduate, especially from any of the higher institutions, without being well grounded in practical business methods. Parents who send their children out in life without seeing that they are well versed in ordinary business principles do them an incalculable injustice. —Success.

The Jester.

He that will lose his friend for a jest deserves to die a beggar by the bargain. Such let thy jests be that they may not grind the credit of thy friend, and make not jests so long that thou becomest one.—Fuller.

Refined and Subtle Sneers.

"I can never understand," says G. K. Chesterton, "why it is that in poems and romances the poor are made to writhe at the refined and subtle sneers of the rich. As far as I can see from the daily life of our streets, it is the poor who do the refined and subtle sneering and the rich who writhe all over the pavement." Any one who has studied the conditions of our great cities will see the truth of this. Every day we see paper boys running, gutter boys moving with an undignified swiftness and unemployables "bumping themselves," if we may be permitted the use of the expression, in pursuit of jobs. And what do the rich do? They affect not to notice and pass by with well bred calm. What happens, however, if the ordinary well groomed man about town moves at more than a walk? Hoots of derision from the lower orders instantly assail him. A poor man may go about bareheaded. What happens if a rich man does the same? The refined and subtle sneers of the poor make him wish that he had never been born. What we of the old ordinary world in either police protection from these rotten or a hostile host of

Should any person who has paid the taxes for 1905, find any of the property for which they hold receipts advertised on the foregoing list, if they will send me the numer and date of such receipt, I will investigate receipt and if correct will have same struck from list, so as to prevent sale of same, and no expense will be incurred by them for such advertisement.

We have been as careful as possible in preparing the list, but as it covers eight months collections there may possibly be some items advertised on which the taxes have been paid. I will cheerfully correct any such error at my own expense, if I am informed of such mistake.

THE LONDON COSTER.

He Is the King of the Curb in the British Metropolis.

London's outdoor man is the coster. He is the Ishmael of the gutters. A very jolly Ishmael, it is true, who is more than content to acknowledge the line of demarcation between himself and the true cockney. But, nevertheless, in a modified, twentieth century way he is still the wild man whose hand is against every man's and every man's against his. He is probably the last remnant of the world's old race of wanderers—the last suggestion of the primitive man—left to the cities. He is to us town dwellers what the gypsy is to the countryside. His descent seems to spring from the same roving stock. And he is regarded, from a safe distance, with the same contempt by those who don't know him. His habits and his impulses still savor strongly of the days when tribe warred against tribe and every man's arm was for himself and his clan. And, although his pitch is below the curb, his caravan a barrow and his beast of burden a Russian pony, a donkey or himself, he is as free and exclusive as any other lusty scion of the people who live under the skies. Ishmael he is, and Ishmael he chooses to remain. And the chances are ten to one that whoever goes a-fishing for information among the barrows will come back with an empty creel or a fine show of fishermen's tales, for your coster knows both how to keep silence and how to use his tongue picturesquely in defense of his jealously guarded traditions and the internal economies of his existence.—Outing.

THE ELEPHANT.

He Is Good Natured, Docile, Obedient and Long Suffering.

"The elephant is the best natured beast in all wild creation," said a circus man. "Most people have an idea that the big beast is apt to go wrong any time and make all kinds of trouble for everybody. Now, as a matter of fact, I have never but once seen a freak of this kind. Then the result was directly due to the intolerable abuse of flat headed grooms. It seems to me that if some one was putting a steel point or hook into a soft joint of yours or mine many times a day and without any good reason for it we would show temper and tear up things too. The only difference is the elephant has more patience. He is docile, obedient and long suffering. When an elephant gets a little out of sorts there is always some lightweight attendant, it seems, to fly off and say he is 'daffy.' Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the poor elephant has been badly treated, and, as he cannot talk, he does about the only thing he can do and trumpets his disgust or possibly goes a step further and eases his feelings by taking a crack with his trunk at something within reach. Elephants are as kind hearted and tender as women and respond to little attentions the same way, and in the same way, just like a woman, when they get soured, it takes a long while to sweeten them again if it can be done at all."—Chicago Chronicle.

At Anchor.

A chief of bureau in the navy department tells a good story of the time when one of the secretaries of the navy got the notion into his head that officers should not permit their wives to reside at the foreign stations to which their husbands might be attached. So an order to that effect was promulgated. Soon thereafter considerable perplexity and no little amusement was afforded the secretary when he received the following cablegram from Commodore Fyffe, then in command of the Asiatic squadron:

Secretary Navy, Washington:
It becomes my painful duty to report that my wife, Eliza Fyffe, has, in disobedience to my orders and in the face of regulations of department, taken up her residence on the station and persistently refuses to leave.

Male Birds Lead the Way.

When birds are migrating the males usually precede the females. The robins, for instance, which are seen early in the year, are almost invariably males, which apparently traveled on before their mates. The female birds follow, perhaps because they are not so powerful and also perhaps because they like to take their time and gossip with one another. In the fall the male birds leave first—the old ones—while the females travel along together with their young, solicitous for their welfare and still training them after the fashion of mother birds.

A Polite War.

A little boy, with an interest in the meaning of unfamiliar words, said to his mother, "What is the meaning of 'civil?'" "Kind and polite," answered his mother. A puzzled look brooded for a second on the boy's face. Then he said, "Was it a kind and polite war that was in this country once?"—Pacific Unitarian.

CUTICURA REMEDIES POSSESS TRUE MERIT

"My face was afflicted with eczema in the year 1897. I used the Cuticura Remedies, and was entirely cured. I am a practicing physician and very often prescribe Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Soap in cases of eczema, and they have cured where other formulas have failed. I am not in the habit of endorsing patent medicines, but when I find remedies possessing true merit, such as the Cuticura Remedies do, I am broad-minded enough to proclaim their virtues to the world. I have been practicing medicine for sixteen years, and must say I find your Remedies A No. 1. You are at liberty to publish this letter, or any part of it. I remain, very truly yours, G. M. Fisher, M. D., Big Pool, Md., May 24, 1905."

NEW TESTIMONY IN HARGIS CASE

Several Witnesses Tell Manner in Which Marcum Was Slain.

Beattyville, Ky., July 12.—The testimony introduced by the commonwealth in the Hargis trial Tuesday was for the purpose of proving to the jury the death of Marcum and the manner in which he was assassinated.

Several witnesses were introduced, among them E. L. Noble, N. B. Combs, Hezikiah Combs and W. B. Johnson. B. J. Ewen, who was the principal witness in the prosecution of Jett and White, and the first man who dared to tell the truth of the crime on the stand. Captain Ewen repeated the testimony he gave on the former trials which Curt Jett claimed in his confession was absolutely true.

Ewen said that when Hargis learned that Marcum had at one time spent the night at his home, Hargis wanted to know why he didn't kill him. He requested Ewen to take Marcum out for a walk at night and return alone. He said that after the killing Hargis wanted him to resign as deputy sheriff in order that he could be used on the jury. Ewen said the confidence always displayed in him by Hargis prompted the latter to say.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

MAY BE SAVED BY LETTER.

Attorney Cooper Gets Communication In Nature of New Evidence.

Macon, Ga., July 12.—Attorney John R. Cooper, of Macon, who has fought so hard and so persistently to save old man Rawlings and the Rawlings boys from the gallows, has received a letter which he thinks removes all question as to his ability to do what he undertook to do in the beginning, that is, to save their lives. The letter is in the nature of newly discovered evidence. It is from a man who stands well in the section in which he lives. He makes it appear that Mr. Carter, whose children were killed, believed at the time of the killing that the assassin did not at any time intend to kill the children, but that he was lying in riding to kill Carter, and that the children and the dogs accidentially stumbled over him and the dogs chased him, and the assassin shot the children in order to escape without being detected.

Mr. Cooper claims that Alf Moore, the self-convicted negro, who was hired to do the killing, furnishes the only evidence on which the Rawlings boys were convicted, and that as Alf Moore was a willing hireling for the purpose of committing murder, it is an outrage to hang innocent boys because he sees fit to implicate them. He thinks the letter from Stockton will show that even Mr. Carter did not at one time believe the killing of the children was intentional or premeditated, or that the Rawlings boys had anything to do with it.

If there is no new trial the letter cannot be used as evidence in court, because it comes too late, but it can be used before the pardon board.

Asthma Sufferers Should Know This.

Foley's Honey and Tar has cured many cases of asthma that were considered hopeless. Mrs. Adolph Buesing, 701 West Third St., Davenport, Iowa, writes: "A severe cold contracted twelve years ago was neglected until it finally grew into asthma. The best medical skill available could not give me more than temporary relief. Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended and one fifty-cent bottle entirely cured me of asthma which had been growing on me for twelve years. If I had taken it at the start I would have been saved years of suffering." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Canal Pilot Knew His Business.

Washington, July 12.—While it was predicted by some that the dry dock Dewey would never be able to pass through portions of the Suez canal, which are only slightly wider than the great dock, the aged head pilot of the canal, A. Pappa, knew differently, and it was his skill and caution which made it possible for the Dewey to get hrough the tortuous waterway in such a satisfactory manner, according to a report of the trip just made to the navy department by Commander Hosely who was in charge of the Dewey and the fleet which convoyed her.

RECKONING TIME.

The Watch of the Man In the Street Is Set by the Stars.

Time is a perennially interesting subject. Before the chronometer in the jeweler's window a procession is constantly passing. The banker pulls out his $700 repeater, compares it with the chronometer and moves on. The office boy with just as much dignity consults the dollar timepiece that bulges his little waistcoat. Both are equally under the spell of time.

As most persons know, England supplies the world with that valuable but impalpable commodity, that purely arbitrary thing which we call time. The meridian of the Royal observatory at Greenwich is the point from which the day of the civilized world is reckoned, but in America the United States Naval observatory in Washington determines Greenwich time and distributes it by telegraph.

In the end the watch of the man in the street is set by the stars. Out of the vast number in the heavens there are some 600, visible either to the eye or the camera, which are known to be practically invariable. The astronomer selects one of them. Through the transit instrument—a telescope pointed at the meridian—he watches, telegraphic key in hand. On the lens of the telescope are eleven hair lines. The center one marks the meridian. As the star crosses each of these lines the operator presses his key, the wires of which connect with an automatic recording clock called a chronograph.

This shows at what time the star crossed the meridian. Astronomical tables determine the time at which it should have crossed. Comparison of the standard clock with these tables shows whether or not the clock is right.

The time is distributed at noon. Three minutes before 12 o'clock thousands of telegraph operators sit in silence waiting for the click of the key which shall tell them that the "master clock" in Washington has begun to speak. At one minute before 12 it begins, beating every second until the fifty-fifth. Then, after the pause, comes a single beat, which marks exact noon, and for another day the world knows that it has the correct time to the fraction of a second.—Youth's Companion.

A Tragic Finish.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold, but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at all drug stores. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Most Nutritious Food.

Taking all the ordinary foodstuffs, the one which would best fulfill the requirements of life and strength would be substantial slices of whole meal wheaten bread, eaten with crust and spread with good butter. Practically all the constituents necessary for the support of life and the building up of tissue are contained in this food. It has the further advantage of being extremely satisfying. If fresh milk or buttermilk were drunk with it an almost complete diet would be obtained, so far as the mere sustaining of physical health and strength was concerned.

The Smile

That won't come off appears on baby's face after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that smile on baby's face. If you keep this medicine on hand, you will never see anything else but smiles on his face. Mrs. S——, Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Precocious Fox.

Charles James Fox is probably the only man who ever made a maiden speech in the commons while still a youth in his teens. He was nineteen when he took his seat for Midhurst, and within a few months he had made three excellent speeches. And yet even at this early age Fox used frequently to sit up all night drinking and gambling.

There is certainly something of exquisite kindness and thoughtful benevolence in that rarest of gifts, fine breeding.—Bulwer.

Development of a Chick.

The development of a chick within the egg is one of the most wonderful things in nature. At the end of the fifty-eighth hour of incubation the heart begins to beat, two vesicles are seen and a few hours later the auricles also appear. On the fourth day the outlines of the wings may be perceived and sometimes of the head also; on the fifth day the liver is visible; on the sixth other internal organs appear. In 190 hours the beak is fully formed; in 200 hours the ribs are clearly developed; in 240 hours the feathers are visible; in 268 hours the eyes appear; in 288 the ribs are completed and the feathers on the breast; in 330 the lungs, stomach and breast have assumed a natural appearance. On the eighteenth day the first faint piping of the chick is sometimes audible.
